YOUR PURCHASE

Your Harbour edition

Northern Lantern House LLC is the seller of record for Tangled Thistle. These edition terms supplement the Terms of Sale at https://tangledthistle.blog/terms-of-sale/. Your receipt and the product page identify the World, edition and scope purchased. Earlier purchases retain their original rights.

English edition 1.0 is supplied. Mexican Spanish is not yet released: reviewed es-MX files of this purchased edition will be included when available, without a second language fee or another set of licensed units. No translation date is promised.

Purchase help, hospitality unit notices and corrections: use https://tangledthistle.blog/contact/ or email hello@northernlanternhouse.com with the order reference, purchased edition and business contact where relevant. Do not send passwords, card details or guest lists. Registration is notice before commercial public operation, not approval of your design or a gate to downloading.

Installation, procurement, printing, food, rentals, staffing, optional studio work and real venue/kitchen tests are separate from the digital files. Images are concept visualizations and recipes are developed, not kitchen-tested. Confirm actual local requirements with your venue and providers.

CHOOSE THE RIGHT SCOPE

Complete World Experience / private use

This new private-use edition is for your own private occasions. You may adapt the supplied designs and hire professionals to help within that scope. It does not license an event business, restaurant, hotel or an independently reusable client resource. Necessary contractors may access the files needed for your occasion, without independent reuse, resale or redistribution.

Tangled Thistle retains its rights in its original materials. Do not resell, sublicense, share for independent access or redistribute the underlying books, blank templates, source artwork or files. Your own independently created contributions remain yours; they do not transfer ownership of the original materials. Public attribution is optional.

The private-use package includes the complete World and hosting book, all twelve source recipes and beverage methods, staff guide, manual 48-field PDF planner and eight current working paper designs. It does not include a calculating private-use Excel workbook, the historical 38-item paper collection, commercial venue rights or a source archive. The free Field Guide is an introduction, not a separate paid component.

EDITION TERMS

Hospitality / five units and registration

One commercial purchase licenses ONE named World and purchased edition/tier for up to FIVE simultaneously active operational units. Slots may be left unassigned. The license is perpetual for that edition, with no annual renewal, per-event use fee or prescribed season length. It does not promise lifetime download hosting, future major editions or unlimited studio services.

Before first commercial public use, the buyer submits order reference, legal purchasing entity, business contact, World/edition, unit name/type, physical address or temporary deployment address/dates, and the legal operating entity for each active unit. Registration is a notice and record, not a studio-design approval. A complete dated submission within the purchased scope is effective when sent through the verified contact route; delayed acknowledgement alone does not invalidate it. Retain a copy. Correct incomplete records promptly after notice. Do not send passwords, card numbers, guest lists or unrelated identity records.

Send unit registrations and replacement notices through the purchase-help route above. A complete dated notice within the purchased scope is effective when sent; retain a copy. Delayed acknowledgement does not invalidate it.

You may download after paid entitlement is granted and must register before commercial public operation. No separate portal or automatic certificate is included.

Replacement is allowed without a fee for permanent closure, relocation, a completed temporary engagement, or a genuine operating-unit change. Notify the new and retiring unit and effective date, confirm that the retiring unit has stopped using the licensed experience, and update the record. No annual replacement cap and no arbitrary waiting period. Never exceed five simultaneous active units. A prior public factual archive may remain, clearly historical, but cannot continue advertising a bookable licensed experience at a retired unit. Replacing a slot does not transfer the original files or independent rights to the former operator.

A pop-up/mobile deployment counts as one active unit at one deployment address at a time. Sequential deployments may replace that slot with recorded dates; concurrent deployments consume separate slots. A touring event business may not treat an unlimited concurrent client network as one mobile unit.

EDITION TERMS

Hospitality / eligible units and ownership

Dining: each distinct restaurant, café, bar, tea room or independently operated dining/lounge outlet counts as one unit, including outlets at one hotel. A terrace, private dining room, overflow or seasonal seating area shares the parent outlet's slot only when it is part of the same service offer and not independently operated/bookable as a separate outlet. A standalone bar with its own service offer counts separately.

Non-dining: a distinct independently bookable event venue or event suite counts as one unit. Multiple rooms hired and operated together as one venue for one engagement share that unit; independently bookable suites operating concurrently count separately. Ordinary partitions do not create extra units, and one street address does not collapse independently operated venues.

Lodging: one named hotel, resort, inn or boutique hotel at one contiguous property/campus may count as one lodging/common-space unit covering its arrival, shared guest spaces and guest-room touches. Each independently operated dining outlet remains an additional unit. Separate accommodation properties/campuses count separately. This defines permitted deployment, not the creative contents supplied: a World at the Table purchase does not contain hotel/guest-room design merely because a hotel can buy it.

Other property-wide experience areas count with that lodging/common-space unit unless sold/operated as an independently bookable venue or independent outlet. Mixed-use properties sum their actual lodging, dining and independently bookable venue units without charging twice for the same area. A property diagram/list resolves the count before use.

Retail shops, standalone attractions, museums, schools, care/health facilities and standalone short-term-rental portfolios are outside the standard hospitality location entitlement. They need a separately defined use permission; this standard does not promise an unsupported package for every industry. An ordinary private household event remains within the applicable consumer license.

Controlled subsidiary means an entity more than 50% controlled through voting ownership, or controlled through an enforceable right to direct its management. Common branding, a minority investment, a management contract alone or a franchise agreement does not establish control. The buyer records which basis applies. Independent franchisees and unrelated clients cannot share the buyer's entitlement.

If control changes but the purchasing legal entity survives, its own purchased rights continue; subsidiaries that leave its control must stop use or obtain their own license. A merger successor that assumes the purchasing entity's obligations may continue the purchased scope after notifying the seller. An asset sale, sale of a venue or sale of files does not transfer the license to an unrelated operator. Independent reassignment requires a separate written license; no automatic resale market is created.

EDITION TERMS

Hospitality / adaptation and professional access

Each package is non-exclusive. No geographic exclusivity, protected trading area, venue partnership or supplier commitment is included. The buyer may charge guests for the licensed hosted experience, use its own business branding and create/adapt menus, recipes, guest collateral, scenery and promotional outputs within its purchased scope. Public Tangled Thistle credit is optional. The buyer must not claim ownership of Tangled Thistle's original works.

Tangled Thistle/Northern Lantern House LLC retains whatever rights it holds in its pre-existing original material. The buyer retains rights it holds in its own independently created contributions; this is not an assignment of Tangled Thistle originals. A contribution does not authorize redistribution of embedded source assets or reuse of them outside the purchased scope. No exclusive copyright is promised in generated images, public-domain elements, recipes, methods or third-party assets. Author rights and restrictions follow the actual provenance record.

No resale, sublicensing or distribution of the underlying packet, blank templates, source art, recipe-book collection, workbook or competing resource library. Selling a hosted service, serving food or distributing finished guest-facing collateral at licensed units is permitted. Promotional finished outputs may be public; source/blank production files and private answer keys may not be posted publicly.

The buyer may provide employees and contracted chefs, designers, printers, fabricators and agencies the necessary editable/production-ready files solely for licensed customization, production, promotion and operation. Do not share buyer account credentials or payment/download recovery links. Give only the files each professional needs and require the same no-independent-reuse/resale/onward-sharing boundary. When engagement ends, remove active shared access; professionals may retain one secure evidentiary archive only where legally or contractually required, without reuse. Supplier replacement is permitted. A supplier cannot turn one customer's license into a license for unrelated clients.

Third-party fonts, stock, software, trademarks and other licensed components retain their own disclosed terms. The supplied vector artwork uses Liberation Serif and DejaVu Sans, with their original open-license notices included. Photographs are flattened. DOCX needs a compatible word processor, XLSX a compatible spreadsheet application, and SVG a vector editor. No third-party subscription, Canva template or InDesign source is included or required.

Buyer modifications do not require studio approval. They must not be described as studio-tested or certified, and the operator remains responsible for lawful operation and genuine safety/food validation. Broad customization does not purchase unlimited studio revisions.

EDITION TERMS

Refunds, corrections and continued use

For a remediable license breach, the seller gives written notice identifying the specific issue and allows 30 calendar days to remedy it. A seller may immediately suspend access narrowly affected by compromised credentials, malware or active unauthorized redistribution while investigating; preserve unrelated lawful entitlements. Do not automatically cancel every corporate-group license because one site has a correctable record error. Termination for an uncured material breach requires written notice; the buyer must stop the affected licensed commercial use. Applicable statutory rights and remedies remain unaffected.

You may request a full refund within fourteen calendar days without giving a reason, including after downloading the files. No deletion affidavit or explanation is required to request an ordinary refund. A refunded license does not authorize future commercial use, but files cannot be remotely erased. Missing, broken or materially misdescribed components remain eligible for investigation/correction or an appropriate remedy beyond the ordinary refund window.

The purchased edition may be used perpetually within scope. Corrections to defective or materially inaccurate delivered files are supplied without an extra correction fee; new Worlds, materially enhanced major editions and additional studio services are not automatically included. File hosting and online support are not promised perpetually. Retain purchased file versions and buyer entitlement records for supported delivery; if a delivery route is retired, notify affected buyers and offer a reasonable migration/export route without narrowing their purchased use rights.

CHOOSE THE RIGHT FORMAT

The hospitality formats

World at the Table is one complete core restaurant service and signature gala-plus-late menu, delivered at occupied seats. It does not include a separate later salon, breakfast or welcome supper. World Residency adds the furnished later salon, its timed or continuously hosted expression, and repeated operation. Hotel World Season adds coordinated dining, lounge and arrival/shared-space zones, the following breakfast, optional welcome supper and guest-room/cross-outlet paper touches.

Each commercial tier includes five eligible active operational-unit slots. A higher tier or a second language does not multiply those slots. Each independently operated dining outlet still counts separately under the definitions above. No season length or repeat attendance is required.

For the same World, an upgrade within 90 calendar days credits the actual net product/license amount paid, excluding tax and refunded amounts, up to the new tier price. There is no cash refund of unused credit, double credit or credit across unrelated Worlds. Request the payable difference and resulting total slots through purchase help before buying an upgrade. Additional slot blocks are not currently offered.